LAST TIME OUT

TOLEDO, Ohio (11/9/12) – Despite 12 points from junior forward Jane Morrill, the Arkansas State women’s basketball team could not overcome an early first half run from Toledo in a 56-34 loss to the Rockets in the season-opener for both teams Friday night.

Morrill scored 10 points in the first half, including the first eight of the game for A-State (0-1) to help the Red Wolves grab a 9-8 lead, but the Rockets (1-0) went on a 10-2 run to take an 18-11 lead by the end of the first half. A-State scored just 12 points in the second half, six of which came in the game’s final 30 seconds.

The Red Wolves also struggled from the field, shooting just 27 percent, including a 13-minute span where A-State did not make a field goal. Toledo increased its lead to 39-22 during the drought.

ASU was also plagued by foul trouble in the first half. Ashley Oliver and Quinshia McDowell were forced to sit for much of the frame after both picked up three fouls.

HEAD COACH BRIAN BOYER

After 13 seasons at the helm of the Arkansas State women’s basketball program, head coach Brian Boyer has not only established himself as the winningest coach in ASU women’s basketball history, but as the winningest basketball coach to ever pace the sideline at Arkansas State. When Boyer led the Red Wolves to a 54-51 victory over UALR in the 2010-11 regular season finale, he passed former women’s head coach Jerry Ann Winters with 197 victories, moving to the top of the list of all coaches in the history of ASU men’s or women’s basketball.

Since then, Boyer’s career victory total has risen to 211, including 111 Sun Belt Conference victories. His SBC win total ranks fourth all-time, a ranking that includes all women’s and men’s head coaches, and ranks second among active coaches. During the 2011-12 season, he became the only ASU basketball coach to ever reach the 200-victory mark, and produced another All-SBC player in sophomore Jane Morrill, the 21st player to earn the honor under Boyer. During the season, Arkansas State picked up notable victories over Southern Cal, WNIT participant Toledo and NCAA Tournament participant UT-Martin.

The Red Wolves finished the 2010-11 season strong, winning seven of their last nine games to advance to the semifinals of the Sun Belt Conference Tournament and close out the year at 18-14, with a 9-7 slate in league play.

The Red Wolves also saw two players earn post-season accolades, with senior Shay Scott earning third-team All-SBC honors and junior guard NeNe Hurst landing a spot on the All-Sun Belt Conference Tournament team.

Throughout the season, the Red Wolves relied on defense on way to their 18 victories. Arkansas State finished the season at No. 4 in the nation in three-point field goal percentage defense, holding opponents to just 26 percent shooting from outside the arc. The Red Wolves were also 28th nationally with a plus-3.94 turnover margin and their 10.3 steals per game ranked 46th in the nation. Arkansas State held its opponents to just 57.4 points-per-game on the season to finish 54th nationally in total defense.

Under Boyer’s guidance, Arkansas State has reached the Women’s National Invitation Tournament four times. He led the Red Wolves to the 2003-04 Sun Belt East Division Championship, the program has produced 21 All-Sun Belt Conference players with Boyer at the helm, and Boyer was named Sun Belt Conference Coach of the Year following the 2003-04 and 2004-05 seasons.

Boyer came to ASU in 1995 spending four seasons as an assistant for former head coach Jeff Mittie, who is now the head coach at TCU.

As an assistant to the men’s team, Missouri Western was a NCAA Division II Tournament participant five years (1990, 1991, 1992, 1994 and 1995) and won two conference championships. The team made the Sweet 16 in 1990. As a women’s assistant, Boyer and Missouri Western made two NCAA Tournament appearances, including a trip to the Final Four in 1995 and the Elite Eight the previous season.

The team went 31-3 in 1995 and made it to the Final Eight of the national tournament. It also went undefeated through its MIAA schedule at 16-0. In 1994, the team finished third in the nation, losing in a national semifinal contest and finishing with a 29-3 overall mark.

In his four seasons at Arkansas State as an assistant coach, Boyer and the Red Wolves earned a 75-42 mark. The 1998-99 team went 18-14 with a trip to the Women’s NIT.
